Dear Susan,

I want to let you know that we have made our selections for the historians' positions here, after a good deal more delay than I foresaw when we began the process last winter. I am sorry that as it turns out, we cannot offer a position to you, but I am grateful for your patience and interest.

I shall return the four papers that you left with us last January. I am glad to have had the chance to know you and your work, and hope you can continue to combine your 17th century research and writing with your Archives work.

With all good wishes,

Yours sincerely,

STAT
